WE GO FORTH TRUSTING

Hesitant
We stand upon the threshold of Opportunity
And gaze—half-fearful
At the prospect which lies before us.
A world—at first sight in hopeless turmoil,
A bleeding world,
A troubled world—
Drifting, terrified, wondering!
Then, faintly, as glimmerings of a dawn,
A light shines from afar.
A rosy tinge spreads over the turbulent panorama.
We lift our eyes—wondering;
The clouds break apart;
The Creator looks down,
Guiding—watching over all.
Now, we have caught a vision;
Now, we go forth TRUSTING.

The Junior College Department, introduced into the N-I in 1936 for the first time by President McMillan, with J. E. Demmer as enrolling officer and adviser, is considered by some authorities as the most extraordinary development in the history of the American school system. It has grown from 9 schools in 1900 to about 525 at the present time. This almost phenomenal growth can mean but one thing. It is fulfilling a service that has been sought for since the development of our school system. That is, the Junior College affords an opportunity for those students who are undecided as to their life's vocation, and for those who wish to later transfer to another school.

There is perhaps no other established curriculum, which takes in a wider scope of subjects, or prepares one for a broader field of vocation, than the Junior College. Upon the completion of the general Junior college course one has obtained a foundation in chemistry, mathematics, social science, liberal arts, English, and a number of electives such as foreign language, history, and farm machinery, if one wishes to take up that line of work (mechanical engineering for instance). For a major in a subject the student is permitted a choice from a large group.

The General Junior College, if one includes certain suggested subjects, may be applied as a prerequisite to either chemical, electrical, mechanical, civil or mining engineering. It may also, with a few alterations, be applied to law, journalism, pre-dental, or pre-medical work. For the commerce student, a diploma is offered for the completion of two years' work. This is spoken of as the Commercial Junior College. Another distinct advantage to the student is that the Junior College credits are more readily accepted by other schools than credits of individual or unrelated subjects.

The Junior College, a course which parallels in a large part the North Dakota State University Junior Division curriculum, therefore, is readily accepted as a boon to the students and consequently a boon to the dear old S. N. I. C.

This is an entirely new course offered for the first time in this school. The course was divided into two parts, one, called the long winter term began November 2 and ended March 26; the other, began January 4 and ended at the same time, called the short winter term. All farmers of sixteen or over are qualified for admittance regardless of previous education.

The purpose of this course is to give farmers the essential knowledge and skill necessary to operate the modern motorized farm.

Acetylene and electric arc welding, automobile and tractor repairing, and subjects having to do with power farm machinery were taught.

The course was intended primarily for not more than 12 students, and opened November 2 with but 2 students. However the course proved to be so popular that 30 students were taking the course in its entirety or some phase of its work before it had long been in operation.

The practical side of this course has been demonstrated by the students, who used discarded and salvaged materials costing the school practically nothing. Some of the equipment built by those students include stationary and portable electric arc welders, welding tables, lamp frames, hoists, and other items of heavy equipment desirable in a modern shop.

The Auto Mechanics club is an organization consisting largely of members enrolled in the Farm Machinery course. Its purpose is to improve the abilities of the members in the line of work in which they are interested. The club held meetings every two weeks at which there were open discussions on such topics as: late developments in welding, automobiles, electric motors, arc welding, and modern designs of automobile bodies. In February a demonstration of welding was given for a chapel program. Members of this organization also attended a welder's demonstration and convention at Aberdeen.

In keeping with the reorganization policy of the school administration, the En Aye has also undergone some drastic changes this year. In fact, so thoroughly has the campus newspaper been renovated and improved that the only thing remaining from the publication of by-gone years is the name.

Instead of a four-column sheet issued irregularly about six times a year, the En Aye is now a five-column paper printed on regular news-print and published twice a month regularly. New body type, head schedules, makeup and editorial policies have been added. A new page size is also in use.

These changes were put into effect by R. T. Schonberger, new faculty supervisor for the paper, when he took over his duties last fall. Featuring the publication year have been special editions on three occasions—Homecoming, during the high school reception in May, and at Commencement.

The editorial policy, as announced in the first issue of the new year, follows: "We intend to 'play up' student activities—things social, athletic, dramatic, musical and academic—to a fuller extent than has been done in the past. Criticism, and constructive criticism only, will be offered when necessary, but we expect to proceed under the impression that the N-I campus is a good place to be." This policy has been closely followed throughout the year.

Staff duties were handled by a small group of students under the supervision of Mr. Schonberger, who acted as editor. Now that the new regime has become established, plans of the student council call for an editor to be elected in May to serve for the following year. As time goes on, a full staff will be worked up composed of upperclassmen in executive positions and freshmen holding down the minor posts. In this manner, there will always be experienced students coming up to vie for the editorship as each staff head graduates.

Since no advertising is accepted by the En Aye, the paper carries more actual news material than any other four-page college weekly in this part of the country, regardless of size. All students and alumni are sent free subscriptions to the paper, and copies are sent to all high school libraries in the state and to all high school seniors in the southeastern part of the state.

The purpose of the Student Council as set forth in the constitution is to have control of the expenditure of the student activities money assigned to them and to initiate and supervise these student activities. The Student Council shall have the power, in conjunction with the faculty sponsor, to nominate the editor of the En Aye; also the editor and business manager of the Snitcher. Nominations for editorship of the En Aye and Snitcher are to be made not later than May 15. The editors chosen will serve the following year. These are the official duties of the Student Council.

A secondary purpose of the Student Council is to act as an intermediary between the student body and the administration of the school. Suggestions made by the students may in this way be presented to the administration by the Student Council and a pleasant and harmonious school life may be maintained.

The first major project of the Student Council for the year 1936-1937 was to resurrect the Snitcher which had not been published since 1924. It was through their efforts that the Snitcher staff was appointed and the work started. During the year they did something that had never been done before when they edited and had printed the Student Directory and Handbook. At the close of the year they instituted another innovation in the first annual High School Senior Reception for the seniors from the seven surrounding counties.

Interspersed among these activities were four outstanding school parties including the Thanksgiving, Christmas, St. Valentine's, and Easter parties. These have been characterized by good orchestras, beautiful decorations, and, more especially, wholesome good times.

The N. I. band is the oldest organization on the campus. Its purpose is to train young people to detect and to develop musical talent of the community in which they are to live, its motto being "music is the language of the soul." It was first organized in 1904 in connection with Company A by E. R. Mosher, Commandant of the company. The continuous and necessary change in personnel from year to year makes it impossible for any great advancement, but does not detract from the enjoyment of practice. Its number varies from twenty to thirty-six. The band is under the leadership of Mr. Ackert. The term concerts were held January 13 and April 22.

"Since singing is so good a thing I would that all should learn to sing."

"There is no Musicke of Instruments whatsoever comparable to that which is made by the Voyces of Men, when the voyces are good, and the same well sorted and ordered."—William Byrd (1543-1623), master musician of Queen Elizabeth's time and founder of the English Madrigal school.

"The chorus is the greatest vehicle of musical expression because it is an orchestra of human instruments."—Dr. Wm. J. Finn.

The N. I. Girls Glee club and the N. I. Male Chorus are the selected vocal ensembles of the campus. Offsprings of these organizations are a few "Sweet Adeline" quartettes, a quintette and several vocal soloists worthy of the title.

The completion of the above-mentioned folk, together with some thirty or forty volunteer minstrels of the student body, comprise the N. I. Choir. This organization usually has a membership of seventy singers. For the past several years the N. I. Choir has given a Vesper service of Christmas music on the Sunday preceding the Christmas vacation.

Among our other activities of the past few years we can list: taking part in assembly programs, assisting at recitals, giving Morning Musicals, a series of sacred programs, guests of out-of-town P. T. A. organizations, etc. One N. I. Male Quartette made over th'irty out-of-town, over-the-state appearances in a term. We make annual Good Will tours, calling upon many of our high school friends. From our membership have come forth many who are holding teaching positions via batons.

Be it folk song, college song or the Hallelujah Chorus, we strive to reflect that side of college life in which young people are moving joyously, earnestly and hopefully on to the realization of a high purpose.

Shortly after the opening of school in the fall of 1936, Mr. Banks and Miss Kravig appointed a committee to look into the matter of organizing a commercial club. The committee did some preliminary planning, and then called the group of commercial students together, who agreed that they should like to organize a club.

A few weeks later the group met again and chose the Commercial club as the name for the organization, and elected officers. The constitution was read and turned over to the executive committee to make some changes before adoption. The constitution was finally adopted at a meeting of the club in March. According to the constitution, the membership of the club shall be composed of students taking at least two commercial subjects. There are to be four standing committees in the club, the program, social, membership, and publicity committees. The officers of the club and the chairman of each standing committee shall comprise the executive board. The club holds bi-monthly meetings at such places as are designated by the executive board.

The Commercial club was organized to perform certain benefits for the business students, such as outside dictation and typing drill, contests with other schools, putting out a commercial paper and of course, social affairs, such as parties and dances.

Most of the year has been devoted to the formation and organization of the club; however, on March 10, they presented a play in chapel, and on March 31, the group enjoyed a Kid party.

The Y. W. C. A. on this campus was organized in 1906 as a charter member of the United States organization. The purpose was to help young women to grow up religiously.

Meetings were held twice a month on Wednesday evenings. These meetings were of varied types. On some occasions we had special speakers and other times the programs were given by the girls themselves. Some of our outstanding programs were on Hobbies, Charm in Dress, Customs of Europe and our April Fool's program.

The year was begun with a tea, followed immediately by a membership drive. After the formal reception of the new members into the society, a party was given. Two joint parties were held with the Y. M. C. A.—the Christmas party and the Valentine party. The organization was responsible for an assembly program where they held a "Kangaroo Court". As a crowning event the Y. W. and Y. M. held an annual jo'nt picnic.

The organization also participates in state conventions. In the spring of 1936, delegates were sent to the Y. W.-Y. M. conference at Fargo, North Dakota. In the fall of 1936 delegates were sent to Grand Forks to serve on the planning board for the spring conference.

As a major project for earning money the Y. W. C. A. is publishing a cook book. They are using favorite recipes obtained from the present members and the alumni.

The Y. W. C. A. has been under the direction of Miss Miriam Onstad, Miss Meda Gross, and Miss Hermione Hanson.

BENJAMIN ZIMMERMAN	Vice-President
JACOB ZIMMERMAN	Secretary
DARCY BOSTRUP	Treasurer
O. E. COMBELICK, M. W. HECKMANN, S. D. SLEMMONS	Advisory Committee

The Y. M. C. A. is the largest men's organization in the school, having a membership of between thirty and forty. It is a member of the state and national associations, and is generally represented at all state conventions and also at the annual Lake Geneva encampment. A get-acquainted stag party is given sometime during the first two weeks of the fall and winter quarters, to which all men of the school are invited and assured of a lively time.

Wednesday evening of each week is set aside for inspirational and devotional meetings of the association. The meetings are usually addressed by some one of the professional or business men of the city or occasionally by some member of the faculty. Individual problems arising in a student's life are dealt with and alleviated as far as possible at these weekly meetings. Once or twice each term a joint meeting is held with the Y. W. C. A., and a joint picnic is held near the close of the school year.

The organization maintains a room in the basement of the library in which study tables, a radio, and other articles of convenience to the men of the school are found.

In recent years, the organization has sponsored a Major Bowes Amateur Hour which is presented as an assembly entertainment. This all-school talent review was a decided success this spring, having about fourteen entries. Three local business men, who served as judges, awarded first place to the "Hoosier Hotshots", the "Y" entry. Second place was taken by "The Dixieland Band", and third place by Margie Maricle.

The purpose of the organization is to promote the general welfare of the student body as expressed by the Red Triangle Spirit, Mind, and Body. It stands for a clean, wholesome atmosphere about the campus; and any man will find a friend among the "Y" boys.

Standing committees are appointed each year. The chairmen in 1936-37 were as follows: Program committee, Jacob Zimmerman; membership committee, Floyd Welander; Bible study, Benjamin Zimmerman; social committee, John Wheelihan; music committee, Lawrence Sheppard; En Aye staff, Leo Billey; room committee, Herbert Theile.

The purpose of this organization is to develop its members intellectually, socially, and physically; to cooperate with school authorities and organizations; to inculcate in the minds of its members a high standard of scholarship; and to unite the members in bonds of sincere friendship and in loyalty to the sisterhood.

In the fall quarter the members send out invitations to the new girls coming in. When the girls have accepted these invitations a form of initiation takes place after which a banquet is given. This banquet is one of the outstanding social events of the year.

This year the Delta society has had many wide and varied programs as well as social events. One of the outstanding meetings was the joint meeting with the Y. W. C. A. during which charm was the main topic discussed. Other programs and business meetings were also held during the year.

Besides the banquet other socials such as dances, games, and cards served as entertainment. As a money-raising project the Delta society gave a card party at which they entertained about sixty guests.

For its major project this year the society is awarding a scholarship to the most deserving N. I. coed. This scholarship is to be awarded on the basis of scholarship, character, participation in school activities, and popularity.

This year the Delta Epsilon Phi has an active membership of thirty-four members. The officers are elected each term and the officers elected during the spring quarter are the officers which serve in the fall quarter.

As a final occasion, the Delta society will hold a banquet at which all the Delta alumni will be invited.

Originally a literary society aiming to give its members needed experience in appearing before the public, Alphian has expanded its function to include not merely literary and dramatic but the social training that is needed on every campus today.

Affairs given in the fall term are largely traditional. A "rush" party to entertain girls new to the school is held, if possible, in the home of a member. This is followed by a reception honoring the pledges at which the alumnae furnish the program. Most impressive of all are the beautiful ceremonies of the initiation.

Outstanding among the events given in the winter term were the buffet supper followed by the amateur hour in which every pledge participated; the formal tea for the actives given by the pledges. The program following the tea had as its theme problems of etiquette and featured a panel discussion of "charm". A dramatic presentation of Riley's poems illustrated by living pictures, a program in which every member participated was repeated for the school in chapel and received much commendation as a worthy and entertaining project.

Among the events of the spring term were a program featuring problems in parliamentary law, a May breakfast, an all-school co-ed costume dance, and an alumnae banquet.

Alphian is preparing a file which will give accurate and up-to-date information about its members, active and alumnae. This takes the place of the former chapter list.

A silver service purchased with money saved over a period of years, was presented to the society this fall.

On October 25, 1916, a constitution for a new girls' society was submitted to the faculty and approved November 1, 1916. Thus the present organization got off to its initial start. Miss Lula M. Potts (Mrs. Gordon Abbot of Chicago) was the faculty adviser and originator of the society.

"The purpose of the society shall be to promote interest in health and physical activities among the lady students of the N-I." The organization has clung to and upheld this purpose throughout the years with only a slight change in activities. Our motto is, "A sound mind in a sound body."

A point system was adapted in December, 1927. This has been built upon and enlarged, and records kept of athletic honors gained by participation in the several sports. The awards now include letters, a 600 point award known as Mecca-for-Pep award. A 1000 point award was first given in 1931 and has been earned by forty girls. Helen Jacobsen secured the first 600 point award. May Hill, in '32, earned a 2000 point, and a 1500 point award was given in '35 to Esther Miller and Martha Miller.

As one of the activities for Homecoming the Mecca-for-Pep put on a pageant called the "Twenty Year Round Up." About twenty-five girls appeared in sports costumes of then and now, illustrating the activities of each epoch. This was followed by dances of long ago concluding with modern tap dance.

At our opening school party for all the girls, a theater party resulted from the prize-winning stunt. A Christmas party, the annual "Kid party", and a picnic have made up our usual school year program.

The Mecca has sponsored May fêtes, play-days, and Sport days. The last big pageant being an observation of the Washington-Bi-Centennial, also Volleyball, basketball, and tennis tournaments and the election of Basketball Queen.

GLADYS TURNER	Treasurer

Early in the winter term the student body elected Walter Erbele to act as cheer leader. Two assistants were then chosen, Margie Maricle being elected by the pep squad with Gladys Turner the choice of the letter men.

A contest for an appropriate name for the club was staged and the winning name "Pepeni" was submitted by Miriam Fleming. The purpose of this organization is to create and maintain a permanent school spirit through the medium of the pep squad.

Various awards are given to members for services and faithful attendance. The cheer leaders are presented with ND letters while the active members receive pins.

Three school yells were voted to become standard yells and are as follows: "Locomotive", "Cha-he, Cha-hi" and "D-u-s-t-i-e-s." It was decided that the cheer leaders elected would act as the officers of the organization. The head cheer leader must act as president.

THE SNITCHER, 1937

COACH SENN D. SLEMMONS

For the past 11 years the N-I has been very fortunate in having as its athletic coach, Senn D. Slemmons, a jovial and likeable man, who, at the beginning of each football, basketball and track season, has had to face odds which no other school in the conference, with but one exception, has had to face. A town the size of Ellendale is not large enough to provide many jobs as an inducement to athletes wishing to work their way through college. Also, the enrollment at the N-I is not as large as that of other conference schools, and is made up mostly of small town and rural students.

When these odds are taken into consideration, it can easily be seen that Coach Slemmons has done remarkably well in producing, with his limited amount of material, teams which have always commanded the respect of their opponents.

Coach Slemmons has not only built up teams which often threatened and upset the championship hopes of larger schools, but he also produced, in 1931, a football squad that battled through all opposition to capture the conference championship; and again in 1932 he tutored his team to the coveted championship position. Annexing the conference football championship for two successive years was a feat which has rarely been duplicated in the loop.

During the past season, Coach Slemmons developed a gridiron aggregation that lost to Wahpeton, the conference champs, by five points, and his basketball quint lost to the championship Minot team by seven points. This is an indication that Coach Slemmons has a group of boys who, after the experience they gained this year, should be in the thick of things when championship awards are decided in the next two years.

FOOTBALL

Back Row—Sawrey, Ratzlaff, Welander, Kempf, Sizer, Hoffman.
Second Row—Co-captain Bock, H. Vix, Juelke, Gorman, Sand, M. Burroughs, Ackert, Striegel, C. Rempfer, Weller.
Third Row—Lubiens, Co-captain Fiske, Bobzien, Maier, Weisser, Oster, Marquardt, Sinkbeil, Erbele.

When Coach Slemmons called out his football candidates in preparation for the 1937 season, he was greeted by about 35 eager men—but in that group were only four men with previous college experience. Nearly all the rest were freshmen, many of whom had never played football before. From this unprepossessing array, the coach built a machine that displayed power from the very start.

At the end of the first week of school, after only three days of practice, the Dusties went to Aberdeen for their annual opening game against the Northern Normal squad. The Wolves had an advantage of two solid weeks of practice, and ran three touchdowns through the bewildered Dusties in the first half. However, the second half was a different story, as the Ellendale players came back fighting to take the play completely away from their foes, stop the Wolves dead, and count two points on their own hook to reduce the defeat to a 19 to 2 score. Two freshman stars were discovered during the contest, Allan Juelke at fullback, and Duane Crabtree, 155-pound center, showing great promise of future power.

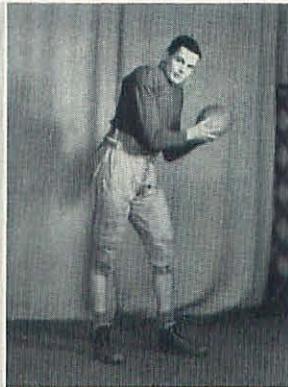

In their first conference tilt, the Dusties invaded Valley City for a clash with the Vikings. The outcome put Ellendale into the victory column with a 6 to 0 win. The score by no means indicates the superiority of the Dusties, and it might well have been 25 to 0, since three of the four touchdowns put over by Ellendale were called back. Crabtree, Clifford Kempf and Tuffy Wallace were mainstays of the line, with Juelke and Striegel furnishing the backfield power.

As an indication of the power the Dusties were capable of turning loose when they were right, the Morris Aggies, the next foe on the schedule, were completely routed, the final score being 62 to 0. Every man on the Ellendale squad saw service in the contest, with the regulars playing less than a half, but no matter how many substitutions Coach Slemmons made, the score continued to mount. Every man on the squad looked like a champion, and hopes for further victories were bright.

At this point, hard luck hit the Dusties in large doses. Leonard Bock, co-captain, was already on the sidelines with a knee injury, suffered before the first game of the season. Although he took part in a few later games, his knee never did recover, and he could play for only a few minutes at a time. Overconfidence, engendered by the Morris rout, took its toll in the next game, against Dickinson. Although the Dusties had things their own way throughout the game, they came out on the short end of the score, 7 to 6.

A last minute 30-yard "prayer pass" and a disputed extra point, gave the Savages their total, after the Dusties had scored once in the first period and dissipated five more scoring opportunities. The first downs were eight for Ellendale and none for Dickinson, 4½ yards being the most ground the Savages could gain on any three consecutive downs. Four more men turned up with knee injuries as a result of clipping in that game, Juelke, Marquardt, Newman and Hoffman being forced out of the play. Juelke and Marquardt responded slowly to treatment, and were slowed down considerably for the rest of the season as a result.

Ellendale's Homecoming celebration was somewhat darkened by a 6 to 6 tie with a determined band from the Bottineau School of Forestry. The Foresters scored early in the game during the only time they succeeded in penetrating past midfield, and held a 6 to 0 margin until the last two minutes of the game. Here the Dusties drove over after a steady march of 60 yards, but poor quarterbacking was shown in the try for extra point, when a man was sent into the center of the line, a spot at which no ground had been gained during the entire game. Ellendale showed a vast superiority in yardage, counting 16 first downs to Bottineau's two.

The next contest found Wahpeton driving toward a conference championship, and expecting to gain an easy victory at the expense of the Dusties. But once more, as in the Aberdeen game, the Dusties showed amazing fight, giving the Wildcats their hardest game of the year, and finally succumbing, 12 to 7. With a strong wind at their backs, Wahpeton scored in the first quarter, and added another touchdown in the third. It was not until late in the final period that Ellendale made use of the running power that had been going to waste through poor generalship. With 2½ minutes of play remaining, the Dusties slammed over a touchdown, scored the extra point, and were back on the Wildcat 15-yard marker as the game ended. Kempf showed his versatility in this contest by going into the backfield and getting off a punt that traveled 80 yards with the wind.

The final game of the season resulted in another defeat for the Dusties. On a bitterly cold day, with the ground frozen hard and covered with a film of snow, Minot took the measure of the Ellendale boys, 6 to 0. It was the only game of the season in which the opponents showed any marked superiority to the home team, and also the only game in which the Dusties failed to score. Crabtree and Kempf were Ellendale's stars, with Van Orny providing the backfield spark.

Despite a poor won and lost record, Ellendale earned the respect of opposing coaches, as was shown in the all-conference selections. Three Dusties were placed on the second team, with two more accorded honorable mention. Crabtree was placed at center, Wallace at tackle and Kempf at end on the second team, with Juelke mentioned at halfback and Ralph Vix at guard.

Prospects for the 1937 team loom bright, with Co-Captain Howard Fiske the only graduation loss. Every other member of the squad has from one to three years of competition remaining, and enough of them should return to make Ellendale one of the standout challengers for the conference crown now worn by Wahpeton.

BASKETBALL

At the opening of the 1936-37 basketball season, very little could be hoped for by N-I fans in the way of a successful campaign. Although four experienced performers were back from the previous year's squad, two of them regulars, two key positions were left vacant with very little prospect of their being adequately filled. Only about 20 men reported with previous experience in the sport, most of them first year men. On top of that, practice could not start until seven days before the first game, because of repair work going on in the gymnasium.

With but five days of actual work behind them, the Dusties traveled to Aberdeen to meet the powerful Northerners, champions of the South Dakota conference, and took a sound drubbing. Two nights later the two teams met again, this time on the N-I floor, and again the Dusties took a trouncing, although they displayed a much improved brand of ball. The games served one valuable purpose—they enabled Coach Slemmons to observe his boys under fire, and to decide upon his best line-up for the remainder of the campaign.

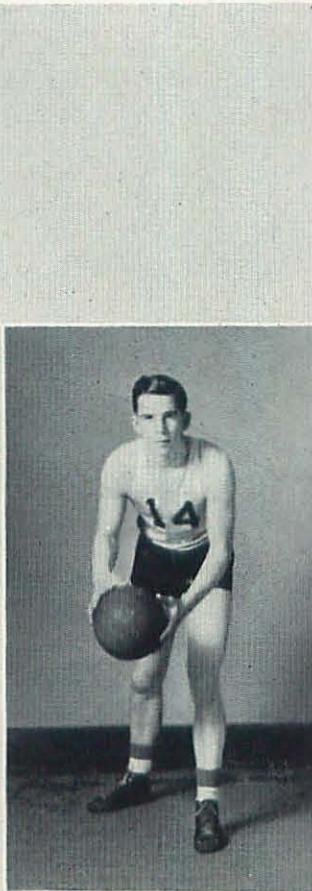

Clifford Kempf, star center the year before, was shifted to forward, with Leonard Bock and Floyd Ackert, the remaining veterans, holding down the guard positions. Two freshmen, Owen Sizer and Reuben Marquardt, were placed at center and forward, and there they remained throughout the season. Aside from this starting line-up, the coach had but little talent on his squad, and this lack did as much as anything else to bring about defeat after defeat for the N-I team. When the starting combination was broken up the N-I game went to pieces, and in every game at least one Dustie, and often two and three, were ejected from the contest via the personal foul route.

Following a pre-holiday road jaunt that brought defeat to the Dusties at the hands of the Chadron, Neb., Teachers and Spearfish Normal, the N-I played host to the Minot Beavers. Fresh from victory over the pre-season favorite Jamestown quint, the Beavers, ultimate conference champs, were so confident of their prowess that they started a second-string combination against Slemmons' boys. They were soon shown their folly, as the Dusties battled the Beavers to a standstill during the first half, forcing Coach Allen to send his regular five into the game. So shaken were the Minot players at the Dustie spirit that the regulars were less effective than the second team had been, and had it not been for the insertion of a substitute, who got "hot" in the closing minutes, Minot may have seen her championship hopes dashed. Kempf played brilliantly for the Dusties, and was ably supported by Bock and Ackert.

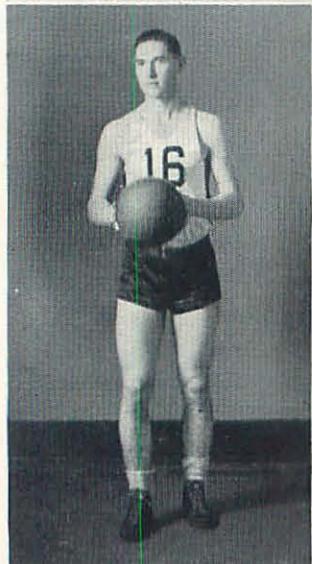

Three nights later Jamestown college invaded the campus, smarting under the Minot defeat and determined to take it out on the Dusties. They did, but not until they knew they had been in a battle. Although the score gave Jamestown a big edge, they had a hard fight of it all the way, and their victory margin was never more than 10 points until the last quarter was well under way. Kempf was again the standout performer for Ellendale, with Bock also turning in a great game. Only Peterson, Jamestown captain, could penetrate the Dustie defense.

THE SNITCHER, 1937

During the same week, the Ellendale Normal squad went on the road, meeting Wahpeton and Mayville on successive nights. At Wahpeton, the Dusties played what was termed by Coach Slemmons as their best game of the season thus far, although the score showed the Wildcats to have won a decisive victory. The Wahpeton players were "on" that night, while the Dusties missed innumerable heart-breakers; as far as floor play and scoring opportunities went, the two teams were about even. Marquardt played a strong game during the contest, as did Kempf and Ackert.

The next night Ellendale tackled the Mayville Teachers quint, and lost by a three-point margin after holding a narrow lead throughout most of the game. Loss of Kempf, Bock and Marquardt on personal fouls during the last half caused the Dusties' downfall, as there were no substitutes available who could carry on the pace. Kempf continued his high scoring while he was in the game, with Ackert also contributing heavily to the Dusties' total.

Dickinson was next on the schedule, but couldn't reach Ellendale because of snow storms. After much jockeying, Coach Slemmons finally agreed to play two games at Dickinson, on the Dusties' western trip, and cancel the Dickinson appearance here.

A non-conference tilt with Bottineau, under a two-year suspension for schedule jumping the year before, was the next home stand for the N-I team. Fans expected an easy victory, as nothing much had been heard of the Foresters in the way of basketball, and the early part of the contest bore out those expectations. Led by Kempf, the Dusties piled up a quick lead, and apparently were on their way to their first victory of the season. However, Bottineau came back strong in the last half, to steadily pull up with the Dusties, take the lead in the final minutes, and hold it until the gun ended the game.

The next night the Dusties journeyed to Valley City, dropping another close contest to the powerful Vikings. The Ellendale quint was not expected to put up much of a fight against the Vikings, considered by conference coaches to be the most dangerous team in the loop. Again the Dusties confounded prognosticators by displaying a great brand of ball, leading for a time, and succumbing by a small margin after several key men had been forced out on fouls. Kempf again led the attack, shooting into the conference scoring lead as a result.

Winding up the season, the western jaunt of the team brought three more defeats, the first one close. Dickinson turned the trick twice, by four points the first time, and Minot took a return game with the Dusties on their own court. Kempf was high point man in all three contests, with Bock and Ackert displaying flashes of good ball.

Return games with Wahpeton and Mayville were scheduled for the N-I floor, but impassable roads caused their cancellation. Ellendale was given an even chance to win both games, with the advantage of playing on their own court taken into consideration. Had they done so, the conference standings would not have been altered, so neither team made a decided effort to reach Ellendale.

Although the Dusties failed to record any victories during the season, their potential power was recognized, and their captain honored when Clifford Kempf received a forward berth on the coaches' all-conference first team. Kempf was the standout performer on the floor throughout the season, leading the loop for a time in total points, and winding up with the highest average of points per game. Had he played in as many games as leading scorers from other conference schools, he would beyond a doubt have ended up as the loop scoring champion.

Basketball prospects for next year look a little better than they did during the season just passed. Every member of the team will be back, and all of them should be better for a year's experience. Rumor has it that Francis Ackert, a former N-I athletic star, will be back next year. If that is true, his presence will bolster the strength of the team considerably.

THE SNITCHER, 1937

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

JANITORS

By sweeping through the league season undefeated, the Janitors' basketball quint won the campus intramural title in comparatively easy fashion, with the Normal and Commercial fives deadlocked for second place and the two remaining teams, representing the Mechanic Arts and Farm Machinery departments, winding up all even in the cellar.

Led by a high-scoring forward trio which was backed up by strong defensive performers in the back court, the victorious Janitors were easily the class of the league, although they were hard pressed in several of their games before putting on last-quarter spurts for comfortable winning margins.

At the conclusion of campus play, the Janitors opposed the strong Oakes Independent quint in a pair of contests, turning in a decisive victory on the N-I court but dropping the return game at Oakes.

Led by Floyd Welander, center and captain, who outplayed every opponent he faced, the roster included Oscar Gehring and Russell Van Orny, two sharpshooting forwards who were usually high-point men; Allan Juelke, Virgil Newman, Howard Sawrey, Howard Clark and Edwin Chambers, strong defensive guards who contributed their share toward the high scores set up by the team. Charlie Sizer acted as coach and manager, with Walter Erbele serving as trainer.

A total of 517 points were scored by the victors in 13 games, with the opposition garnering 331 points. Indications point toward another strong team for the Janitors next year, with all of this year's team returning.

Aside from the Janitors, the league teams were fairly matched, with all four winning at least one contest. Three faculty members took part in the play, R. T. Schonberger with the Normal team and Coach S. D. Slemmons and Ivan Rustad performers for the Farm Machinery quint.

Sponsored by the En Aye, all-campus league first and second teams were selected by the team managers, following the close of the league season, and a regulation contest was held between the two fives. The first team vindicated their right to all-star honors by turning in a decisive victory.

First team selections were Oscar Gehring, Janitors, and R. T. Schonberger, Normal, forwards; Floyd Welander, Janitors, center; Howard McDermott, Commercial, guard and captain; and Duane Crabtree, Mechanic Arts, guard. On the second team were Russell Van Orny, Janitors, forward and captain; Lacle Bobzien, Normal, forward; Otto Hoffman, Normal, center; Robert Christianson, Mechanic Arts, and Virgil Newman, Janitors, guards. Honorable mention was accorded Oscar Reddig, Farm Machinery; Deryck Cawthorne, Ray Neumann and Marvin Weller, Commercial; and Raymond Sinkbeil, Normal.

The 1937 season was easily the most successful in the history of the school, with the all-star game furnishing added interest. This "game of champions" was an innovation in Northwest collegiate basketball circles, its success attested by the fact that other schools in the section quickly followed suit.

TRACK

Thirteen men have been working out regularly for places on the N-I track and field team this spring, with all of them being taken along to meets in which the Dusties are entered. This is a very small number in comparison to the squads representing other schools in the conference, and therefore supporters of the school do not look for the team to carry off any laurels. However, there are some strong individual performers on the squad roster, many of whom will score points in any meet the Dusties choose to enter.

Only three veterans are on the list of thirteen. Leonard Bock, Clifford Kempf and Floyd Welander have all had varsity experience with the Dusties. Another veteran, who has not competed for the N-I before, is Wayne Hill, former captain of the University of North Dakota team, who has thrown in his lot with the Ellendale school this year.

All other members of the squad are first-year men, many with fine high school reputations, but none who has competed against college performers before.

Tackling the most ambitious schedule in years, Coach Slemmons has entered his team in six meets this spring, beginning with the Aberdeen Relays, where Hoffman carried off a second place in the discus. Others entered are a meet at Jamestown April 30, with Ellendale, Jamestown, Minot, Dickinson and Valley City competing; a quintangular meet in the same city May 7, with Ellendale competing against Jamestown, Valley City, Huron and Aberdeen; the State Intercollegiate meet at the University on May 15; a dual meet with Wahpeton there May 22; and the annual conference meet May 29, this year held at Jamestown.

The 1937 team is composed of Wayne Hill, who runs the 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard low hurdles and broad jumps; Owen Sizer, high hurdles, low hurdles, and 220-yard dash; Otto Hoffman, discus and shot put; Leonard Bock, discus and shot put; Clifford Kempf, shot put and high jump; William Jackson, 440-yard dash; Harry Vix, 100-yard and 220-yard dashes; Oscar Gehring, 440-yard dash, javelin and broad jump; Laclel Bobzien, broad jump; Calvin Rempfer, pole vault; Leon Burroughs, mile run; and Harold Kuch, two mile run.

Prospects for a strong team in 1938 are bright, if the number of aspirants can be increased. Only Wayne Hill will be lost to the Dusties by graduation, and several promising freshmen candidates can be counted upon to enter the Ellendale school next fall.

MINOR SPORTS

Every year a number of N-I athletes engage in several sports which, because of the lack of available competition, are classed as minor. Among these sports are tennis, golf and diamondball.

In past years, tournaments in golf and tennis have been held in conjunction with the conference track meet, but lately plans have fizzled out near the end of the school year. During the fall meeting of the league coaches, it was decided to hold boxing, tennis and golf tournaments this spring, but latest developments show that plans have been virtually abandoned.

In golf, the N-I has one representative who has scored points for the school in the past, and is therefore entitled to mention. He is Marvin Weller, who this spring is competing for his third year. If a tournament is held, Weller will undoubtedly represent the N-I.

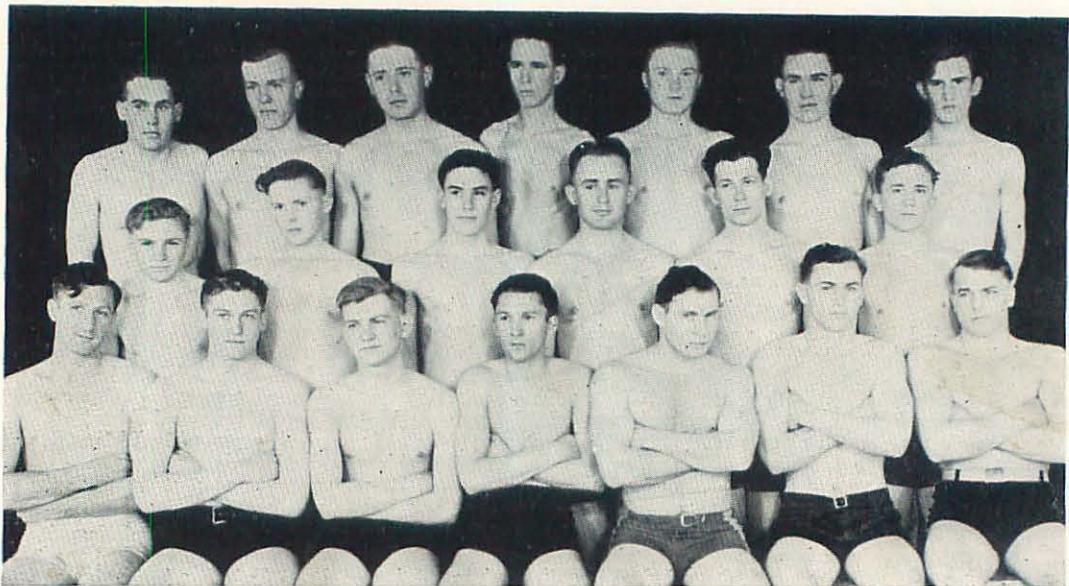

The Dusties offer Floyd Ackert and Howard Clark in tennis. Ackert has been the outstanding player in school for three years, and, like Weller, is competing for his third year. If competition in the sport is available, he and Clark will form the N-I team.

Two courts on the school campus and two more in the city of Ellendale provide adequate practice facilities for those interested in the sport, and each spring a number of students put in many hours of training.

Diamondball is a new sport on the campus. Years ago a baseball league was in operation in the conference, but it has died out. For several years, the only spring sport engaged in by the school has been track, and only a limited number of boys are able to take part in that sport. In order to give those who are not participating in track a final few weeks of outdoor activity, and to round out the very commendable intramural program in operation throughout the year, a diamondball league has been organized this spring, with four teams competing.

BOXING

Back Row—Wheelihan, Ravenstein, Nill, Campbell, Lematta, Gorman, Van Tries.

Center Row—Phillips, Nicholson, Woll, Vix, Oster, Ratzlaff.

When a call for volunteers was issued to fill the ranks of the cauliflower forces, approximately twenty-five enthusiastic candidates crowded into the training circles. The boys were somewhat disappointed when the coach put them through intensive drills during the first two weeks without even giving them a smell of leather, but there was no doubt but what every candidate benefited from the calisthenic exercises.

When the boys were finally whipped into fair condition, tryouts were held and there was action galore. Two one minute rounds were fought by each man and the need for more track training was apparent. However, stance and hitting also showed decided defects and upon these two phases boxing was concentrated on for several weeks, with the result that several "knock-outters" were developed. When the entire squad was finally brought into a satisfactory position Senn Slemmons, head of the Athletic Department, arranged for an elimination tournament to determine the school champions. Drawings were made a couple of days before the fights and interest ran high among the student body.

Howard McDermott won his title in the lightweight class without drawing on a glove, the result of a forfeit by Clarence Retzloff, his scheduled opponent.

The first bout of the evening resulted in a draw between Loren Phillips and Harry Woll, bantamweights. Woll had superior reach and held his shorter opponent off throughout the fight, but Phillips' defense was too good for Woll to penetrate, and neither landed any damaging blows. No extra round was fought, the two being declared co-champions at their weight.

Darcy Bostrup and Duane Crabtree, rugged middleweights, ended up all even in their bout, with Bostrup starting fast to pile up a decisive margin in the first round. However, he tired fast and Crabtree peeked away at his lead until the final round, when a fast rally gave Crabtree a shade for the round and made the score all even at the end.

Another middleweight battle pitted Glen Maier against Ray Gorman, with Maier carrying off honors after a bruising encounter. Maier took the first round easily, with the other two being split by shades. The bout ended with both participants swinging wildly in a fast flurry. No arrangements were made to divide the middleweight title.

In the feature bout of the evening, Allan Juelke's impregnable defense helped him win a decision over Leonard Bock by the closest of margins in a fast encounter that might have been called either way. Bock carried the fight throughout. Neither landed many clean blows, but those that connected were hot.

Gottlieb Maier had too many guns for his opponent, although Nicholson held things even the first round. Maier's superior punch took effect in the final round, and the referee stopped the fight as Nicholson appeared out on his feet.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

Frances Zinter, Carolyn Bolstad, Leona Dockert, Ruth Lynn, Vivian Robins, Rosella Kunz, Angeline Kunz, Lillian Johnson.

The activities in the department of Women's Athletics have been many and varied. Sports and games are chosen, not only for their value in developing strength and endurance, but also for their value in providing future teachers with a knowledge of suitable playground activities and methods.

Soccer and volley ball with various lead-up games are the chief interests during the fall quarter. In past years a volley ball tournament has been played but repair work in the gym made that event an impossibility this year.

Tap dancing and social dancing has proven a popular addition to the regular course. The tapping class has been much in demand on the campus for specialty numbers.

An inter-class basketball tournament held February 25 to March 9, sponsored by the Mecca-for-Pep society ended the winter quarter. This event was undoubtedly the high spot of the season.

Team divisions were made according to the year classifications of the players, the fifth and sixth years each having two teams and the high school having two teams. Captains were: Vivian Wegner, Frances Zinter, "Muggy" Laughlin, Rosella Kunz, Eva Harter, and Evelyn Strand.

The fifth year teams opened the tournament; Francis Zinter's team emerging with a 20 to 15 victory. In the second game, "Muggy" Laughlin's squad defeated the other sixth year team 32 to 20. The losers of the first two games, Rosella Kunz's fifth years and Vivian Wegner's sixth years played a third game of the tournament, Rosella Kunz's team winning 13 to 7.

In the championship game, Frances Zinter's team came through with a 7-point lead over "Muggy" Laughlin's sixth years.

After defeating the Sophomores 37 to 4, the Senior high school team challenged Frances Zinter's victorious squad, but the strong fifth year team came through again, winning 37 to 18.

Carolyn Bolstad was the high point player with 28 points and Grace Meyer second with 24 to her credit.

In recent years, there has been a wide demand and much felt need for qualified women officials. To meet this condition, an N. I. Board of Women's Officials was organized a year ago. The board has secured local rating and will be eligible for a national rating when they have passed the required theoretical test as well as a practical demonstration of their ability.

In order that women officials might have adequate training, a coaching class was organized. The fourteen members of the class had actual practice in refereeing games at the Ellendale high school and the N. I. interclass tournament, as well as an opportunity to officiate at the Dickey county tournament. Officials at the county tournament were Carol Hansen and Clara Lubbers.

During the spring term, tennis with its variations of ping pong and paddle tennis will be the chief interest. A tennis tournament will be played at the close of the season if the weather permits.

HOMECOMING

"The most successful Homecoming in the history of the school," was the verdict of N-I students and residents of Ellendale after a week-end of festivity in honor of the old grads had terminated with the big Homecoming dance held Saturday evening, October 24, in the armory. As a result of the fine spirit of cooperation among the students themselves and the businessmen of Ellendale, a celebration has been staged that will live long in the memories of those who witnessed or took part in it.

Preparations for the festivities were started three weeks before the Homecoming week-end by the students, at the insistence of the newly-formed student council. Since the two previous Homecomings had taken for their theme the "Roundup," the student council decided to model this year's version after them, and establish the Roundup as a tradition of the school. At meetings of the men and women students, held for the purpose of determining appropriate means of advertising the occasion, it was decided that the men would forego shaving and do their best to grow manly beards, and the women would don braids and bows in the manner of their sisters a generation ago.

The actual celebration got off to an auspicious start with a huge snake dance Friday evening, in which a great part of the student body participated. Led by Herbert Thiele, mounted on a horse, and the school band, the crowd of cowboys and cowgirls, dressed in true Western fashion, thronged through the streets of Ellendale. When the business district was reached, the band played several selections and a few lusty shouts and cheers were given in behalf of the N-I football team. Then with much shouting and noise-making the snake dance was started.

Through the streets, alleys and business houses the weaving, running line swiftly moved. The weaker ones in the chain were left by the wayside, so great was the force with which the line was traveling. After several minutes downtown, the line moved up toward the college campus where a great bonfire had been gathered for days before. While the huge tower of flame leaped into the sky, the judging contests for the most realistic cowboy and cowgirl were held. Herbert Thiele and Eloys Flegel Fiske carried off first honors in their respective divisions, with Mary Kelly and Clara Lubbers runners-up in the girls' division, and Darcy Bostrup and Lyle Lubiens placing second and third among the boys.

The throng then moved to the armory, where the pep rally was held, along with the remaining contests and stunts put on by various organizations. Alphian placed first in the stunt contest, Mecca for Pep second, and Delta Epsilon Phi third. First prize for the most complete beard went to John A. Gebhardt, with John L. Gebhardt and Glen Maier following in second and third place. In finishing up the evening, school yells were given, and songs appropriate for the occasion were led by Miss Emily Jane Callan and sung by the throng.

Jeanette Robinson, elected Homecoming queen by the assembled student body the week before, was featured in the parade Saturday morning, which flung its picturesque length through all the main streets in the town. Colorful floats representing the different organizations and departments of the school followed the Queen and her mounted attendants.

Saturday afternoon the Dusties met the Foresters from Bottineau, and although badly outplayed, the invaders managed to pull out with a 6 to 6 tie, thus putting a damper on the Homecoming spirit for a time. During the half, President McMillan officially crowned Miss Robinson Homecoming Queen. During the ceremony, Miss Robinson was dressed in fitting cowgirl style and mounted on a white horse. Her two attendants, Edna Kuch and Mayvis Hafner, rode black horses.

That evening the armory was the scene of bright festivity and much gaiety. A record crowd jammed the building to dance to the music of Loren Towne and his orchestra from Bismarck. An acrobatic dance by little Aloha Jensen, and a whistling act by her sister, Shelda, were featured numbers of the evening.

With the finish of the dance, another Homecoming was brought to a successful conclusion. Students and instructors heaved sighs of relief mingled with regret, in acknowledgment that it was all over, and homecoming grads went away with a greater feeling of kinship with their alma mater. Businessmen of Ellendale felt a certain pride for the most successful part they played in the celebration, and so it was an all-around "great" Homecoming.

Because of the selection of the same theme year after year, the student council believe, that Homecoming will grow into a tradition that will equal the best boasted by any school in the country. From year to year, new equipment and new costumes will be gathered, new and colorful details will be added to the celebration, and students, alumni and townspeople will find it increasingly easier to get into the spirit of the occasion.

ALUMNI

Nine long years have passed since the last Snitcher was published at our school—nine years in which graduates have left the institution with no formally-recorded recognition of their years spent at the N-I. We, the alumni committee, wish to express our appreciation at the way former students have supported our efforts to track down all graduates of the school. We have been able to prepare an up-to-date alumni directory during the school year, which will enable the administration to keep in close touch with those who secured their business and professional training on the campus. We include here the names of all those who have graduated from our school since 1924, regretting the fact that space limitations prevent our including addresses, business and professional connections, and other facts of interest to alumni, faculty and students alike.

1. Abdul-abul-bul-amar.
2. In the library.
3. Snapshot editor's fate.
4. Ex-gob Senn.
5. Illumination.
6. Farm mechanics.
7. Days gone by.
8. Fingertip control.
9. Stumped.
10. Who's the goat?
11. Rehearsing.
12. Sailor beware!
13. Broom and brush men.
14. Dean Hanson.
15. You've got something there.
16. Hoosier Hot-Shots.

WHO'S WHO

1. Laziest: "Oh, why should life all labor be? This is what Kempf and Juelke can't see."
2. Best Sports: (Female) Jeanne Tusow and Edna Kuch put worry down in the bottom of their hearts, sit on the lids, and smile.
3. Best Sports: (Male) A little bit of folly and a little bit of fun for Sizer and Vix.
4. Jolliest: Skip and Gebhardt say, "Laugh, and the world laughs with you!"
5. Best Athletes: If Kingdom's Halls were basketballs, Bock and Kempf would rule them like Kings.
6. Hardest Workers: Laurence Sheppard and Ida Pflugrath feel that the secret of success is in constancy to purpose.
7. Biggest Vamps: Gladys and Fern smile on the boys just for fun, but we know there's nothing in it.
8. Biggest Grouches: Kempf and Muggy are like little chimneys, heated hot in a moment.
9. Cutest Girls: Jane and Fern with laughing eyes and glances soft and shy, don't pretend to hate the boys, for that might be a lie.
10. Biggest Shieks: Ah! That we might be as sure of anything as Van Orny and Dekker are of everything.
11. Best Girl Dancers: Margie Maricle and Ethel Nelson dance and dance until they cry, and they'll dance and dance until they die.
12. Most Ambitious Girls: Agnes Brown and Verna Totenhagen strive, seek, and find but never yield.
13. Most Ambitious Boys: To Raymond Neumann and Jake Zimmerman knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers.
14. Best Boy Dancers: Howard McDermott and Benny Dekker hold this title. Girls agreed.
15. Most Popular Girls: Jeanette Robinson and Margie Maricle are girls of many moods, many accomplishments, and many friends.
16. Most Popular Boys: Erbele and Bock are jolly lads, so full of fun, and always nice to everyone.
17. Best Looking Boys: Hollywood scouts should be notified of N. I.'s handsome men—Russel VanOrny and Benny Dekker.
18. Best Looking Coeds: Alice and Fern have been blessed with sparkling eyes, in which a world of mischief lies.
19. Who Has Done the Most Work for N. I.: Arnold Hoel and Glen Maier do little kindnesses, which most people do undone.

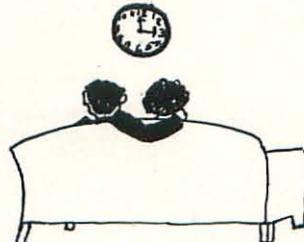

A MULE

*Two legs he has behind,
Two legs he has before,
We stand behind,
Before we find
What the two behind are for.*

It's Three O'clock in the Morning	Bock and Eloise Hafner
Take Me Back to My Boots and Saddle	John Wheelihan

Phyllis: I believe this school is haunted.

Maxine: Why?

Phyllis: Because they're always talking about school spirit.

Clara: What a unique town!

Chambers: Unique?

Clara: Yes. taken from the Latin "unus" meaning "one" and "equus" meaning "horse."

Mr. Ackert: Can you prove the proposition that the square of the hypotenuse of a right triangle is equal to the sum of the square of the other two sides?

Lincoln: I don't have to prove it—I admit it.

Doctor: Oh, your cough is much better today.

Violet: Yes, I have practiced it all night.

(In chemistry class): I can't get this electricity through my head.
Naturally, bone is a nonconductor.

Bernice: What is the awful odor in the library?

Mildred: Oh, that's the dead silence they keep in there.

Mr. Schonberger: A verb has as many moods as a woman.

1. No man's land.
 2. Slim.
 3. Underexposure—tsk! tsk!
 4. Lay on MacDuff!
 5. Ready, willing, and able.
 6. Snitcher brain-trusters.
7. The last straw.
 8. Der Führer Gehring.
 9. "K. P.'s"
 10. Calamity Jane.
 11. Red, hot, and blue.
 12. "Hashers."
 13. Prof. Allan Juelke, B. S.
14. Homecoming game.
 15. Wood nymphs.
 16. Pipe that!
 17. Chuck's hangout.
 18. Flirtation walk.
 19. Peg-o-my-heart.

CAN YOU IMAGINE—

Arnold Hoel singing Soprano in a mixed chorus.
Vernen Pederson without Florence Kempf.
Mr. Banks skipping rope.
Ruth Tallon without her gum.
Jake Nill as world's heavyweight champ.
Joe Kempf as Pep-N. I. cheerleader.
Gladys Turner with a crush on only one fellow at a time.
Corky Halverson with a long red beard.
Leonard Bock knitting wool socks.
Ilene Dawes as an old maid.
Alice Orth as a Blues singer.
John Wheelihan in short pants and half socks.
Charlie Sizer without anything to say.
Snoof Weller bringing his own paper to Accounting class.
Mr. Ackert riding a stick horse up and down the halls.
Miss Gross riding behind Mr. Ackert on the stick horse.
Allan Juelke as instructor of voice at Vassar College.
The four third floor dorm girls not talking about Duane Crabtree.
Bill Jackson not playing "Romeo" to Miriam Fleming.
Mr. Schonberger bawling some one out in class.
Marvel Buske as a shy young miss.
Leonard Bock not being friendly.
Skip Erbele and Ilene Dawes riding a bicycle.
Albert Hintz not arguing with Mr. Demmer.
Charlie Sizer not looking for something to eat.
Art Bartle writing a good joke.
Russ Van Orny with long straight hair.
Mr. Fuller playing marbles.
Kathlyn Bymers keeping still in typing class.
Gladys Benz and Colin Campbell as a dance team.
Mrs. Slemmons with bright red hair.
Mrs. Banks shooting a sling shot.
Howard Clark writing a good joke.
Duane Crabtree being the first one to an eight o'clock class.

Ruth Welch's vocabulary without "goofy."
Faye Ahrlin not singing the latest songs.
Kathlyn Bymers giving some one else a chance to argue.
Allan Juelke working himself to death.
Eloise Hafner saying, "I don't like athletes."
Joe Kempf saying, "I guess I'll stag it to the next party."
Edwin Chambers without his vocabulary.
Ray Gorman not talking to the girls.
Leo Billey tipping the scales at 98 pounds.
Esther Oster with a great big voice.
Howard Clark running to a class.
Mr. Schonberger getting a pin for perfect attendance.
Florence Simonson asking for an introduction to Corky.
Mr. McMillan getting mad because his name doesn't appear in this column.

GREAT RESPONSIBILITY

Friend: Who will command in your house?
Mr. Combellick: We will share the management. My wife will boss the cook and the children. I will attend to the goldfish.

SCOTCHIE

Young Lady: Oh-h-h Bill, that popcorn smells grand.
Bill: Aye, it does, lass; we'll go back and drive a wee bit closer.

SURPRISE

Indignant Young Lady: I turned the way I signalled.
Sad Young Man: I know it; that's what fooled me.

DECEITFUL

Margie Maricle: He says I look like the best dancer on the floor. I wonder if I ought to give him a dance.
Friend: No. Better let him keep thinking so.

THINKING

Pete: Say, Florence, just what is love?

Florence Kempf: Nothing.

Pete: Well, what does that make me?

Clifford: Would you object to a husband who sat up in bed and smoked?

Alice P.: I certainly would, but I intend to keep quiet about it until I get one.

Did you get the second question in History?

No.

How far were you from the right answer?

Five seats.

Overheard in Gym class:

They say he's terribly old-fashioned.

Why positively, my dear, he wears garters!

Prof. Ackert: "If there are forty-eight states in the union and superheated steam travels the distance from Bombay to Paris, what is my age?"

Joe Kempf: "Forty-four, Sir."

Prof. Ackert: "Correct, and how did you prove that?"

Joe K.: "Well, I have a brother who is twenty-two and he is only half nuts."

Mr. Heckman (to Corky Halverson who is a half hour late): "You should have been in here at eight o'clock."

Corky: "Why, what happened?"

A neighbor is talking to Glen Maier's dad.

Neighbor: "So your son got his B. A. and his M. A. in college, eh?"

Proud Dad: "Yes, indeed, but his P. A. still supports him."

ELLENDALE A HEALTHFUL TOWN

"Is this a healthful town?" inquired the home seeker of a native.

"Yes, certainly," was the answer. "When I came here I hadn't strength to utter a word: I had scarcely a hair on my head: I couldn't walk across the room, and I had to be lifted from my bed."

"You give me hope!" cried the home seeker with enthusiasm. "How long have you lived here?"

"I was born here," replied the native.

COLLEGE ROMANCES

"If"

If you love a man, he isn't worth it
If you don't love him, you don't know what you want
If you lead him on, you're a flirt
If you ignore him, you're heartless
If he has money, you're mercenary
If he hasn't you're foolish
If he's old, you're robbing the grave
If he's young, you're robbing the cradle
If you stay at home, you're an old maid
If you don't, you're a rounder
For the love of Pete, what's a poor girl to do?

THOSE WERE THE "GOOD OLD DAYS"

Back in the days of '49,
When boys were men at the age of nine,
When killing Indians was quite the thin',
And drinkin' and dancin' wasn't a sin,

When women worked from dawn till night,
And the men at the saloon were not right,
Whenever the Indians were in a stew,
Pioneers would stick together like glue.

Whenever a street fight was the center of attraction,
All the men yelled, "We want action!"
And just when the fight was getting hot,
The sheriff rides up and tells 'em to stop.

I have said too much about the days of yore.
I think I'll stop or get the Bronx roar,
So I'll just sign off, but want to impress,
That those old days were by far the best.

(ENOS "CORKY" HALVERSON)

WEATHERING THROUGH

We're apt to sort o' kick like,
When trouble comes our way;
And kinder like to dodge it
And choose a fairer day.
But if our eyes are open
And looking for the good,
There's treasures in the shadvers
We could find them if we would.

If we're craving to be heroes.
We must not fear the fight;
Nor always seek the sunshine,
And day instead of night.
There's a certain strength and bigness
That comes with pain and care;
We must not shun the hardships
Nor say we do not dare.

Fair weather does not prove the ship,
Nor idling in the port;
We wonder could it stand the storm
And be the stronger sort.
But when she sails the ocean
And rough seas beat her side,
She proves her worth by conquering
Or goes down with the tide.

Life's ocean's not a smooth one—
We cannot hope 'twill be;
'N' the shore is strewn with weak ones
Who could not stand the sea.
We must not pray for sunshine
Nor always skies of blue;
But rather for the courage
That we might weather through.

ORA SMITH LAWRENCE.

THE EVENING HOURS

There's a sort o' sacred feeling
That comes at close of day,
When the evening chores are finished
And the dishes cleared away.
True the day has had its problems
But they seem to lose their power,
As we gather round the fireside
In the quiet Evening Hour.

Mother's taking off her apron
And is smoothing back her hair,
And the rest of us make ready
As we each draw up a chair.
Thus we like to sit and visit,
For our worries fade and cower
When we share them 'round the fireside,
In the quiet Evening Hour.

Sometimes we're craving music:
Sometimes we read a bit:
But more often, when all are weary,
We just like to sit and sit.
While the restfulness of evening
Settles down around our bower;
As we gather 'round the fireside,
In the quiet Evening Hour.

We Live in the Age of Miracles

Had Merlin, with all his magic, been able to flood King Arthur's court with light from a small bulb of glass at the mere pressing of a button—had he been able, at the turn of a switch, to produce glowing heat to cook the wild boar and tasty fowls—sweep the floors and wash the clothes, or bring beautiful music and voices from nowhere—could he have produced clear, hot water at a kitchen tap by merely turning the faucet—we are sure the good King Arthur and all his worthy Knights would have fainted in their chairs around the Round Table.

Yet all of these miracles, as well as hundreds of others, are well-known and performed daily in millions of homes throughout the world today; made possible by the harnessing of that powerful giant and friend of humanity—Electricity. In fact, so common is it now that its marvels are taken for granted, and we go on living our well-ordered lives never realizing just how handicapped we would be without it.

DAKOTA MAID FLOUR

THE SUPERIOR PRODUCT

The flour made by an industry of the people of North Dakota.
Made from wheat grown by the farmers of North Dakota.
Ground by a mill owned by the people of North Dakota.
And excelled by no industry, either in or out of the State.
Why not use your own product and thus eliminate unnecessary competition?
